NOTES IN SEASON.

THE DODGE PUBLISHING CO., New York City, have ready a volume of short stories by Sara B. Rogers entitled "Ezra Hardman, M.A. of Wayback College," said to be one of the best collections of college stories in recent years. Four college professors have thought they recognized themselves in Ezra Hardman, the hero of the title-story and the graduates of many colleges have claimed their alma mater had been caricatured by the clever writer. The number of Scribner's Magazine in which the first story appeared was out of print in a very short time.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just brought out a translation of Camille Flammarion's "The Unknown," an eminent scientist's study of the phenomena of the spirit world; "The Conspirators," a novel satirizing the government of the little German principalities, by Robert W. Chambers; "The Action and the Word," a New York story of the infatuation of a young married society woman for the stage; and Emily Brontë's "Wuthering Heights," the latest addition to the Haworth edition of the works of the gifted Brontë sisters.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS issue to-day Cyrus Townsend Brady's "The Grip of Honor," of which a large first edition has already been exhausted; "The Touchstone," a novel by Edith Wharton, the talented author of short stories entitled "The Greater Inclination," a volume already in its fifth edition; and "Toomey and Others," strong, clean stories by Robert Shackelton, describing the most picturesque districts of New York State. They have nearly ready an interesting contribution to Tennyson literature in Professor E. Hershey Sneath's work entitled "The Mind of Tennyson—being an interpretation of his thoughts and beliefs concerning God and immortality."

DODD, MEAD & CO. have just ready the first volume of Andrew Lang's "History of Scotland," which will cover from the Roman occupation to the present day; and selections from the writings of Dr. Lyman Abbott, issued under the title "Problems of Life," which has an introduction by Washington Gladden. In fiction the latest publications are "The Alabaster Box," by Walter Besant, a story of "settlement life"; and "Feo," by Max Pemberton, dealing with the infatuation of a man of rank for a young opera singer. A book of travel in Nova Scotia and Cape Breton Island is entitled "Down North and Up Along," and is the work of Margaret Warner Morley, author of "The Honey-Makers" and "The Bee People." They will publish early in May a novel of Russian life and character entitled "Anna Vilis," by Marie Rodzierwicz, translated by S. C. de Soissons.

LITTLE, BROWN & CO. publish this week "The Parsonage Porch: Seven Stories from the Note Book of a Clergyman," by Bradley Gilman. The stories have humor, freshness, and occasional pathos, but their charm lies in the genial personality of the author, and in the humorous and truthful portrayal of the clergyman's point of view. Each story has a short preface which serves to increase the interest in the story to follow, and aids in giving the book unity. The seven ingenious stories should therefore be considered collectively rather than separately. They are told under the following titles: A Misunderstood Dog; My Old Silk Hat; A Frankenstein Family; Here Endeth the First Lesson; Willis the Dreamer; Wanted—A Young Minister; The Rival Undertakers. They have also just ready "Tales for Christmas and Other Seasons," by François Coppée, a volume of stories not before translated, now done into English by Myrta Leonora Jones. These stories by Coppée are among the most dainty, exquisite, and artistic of their kind. They will publish next month some stories of the Boer War, by Caryl Davis Haskins, under the title of "For the Queen in South Africa." There are six "tales of strife"; "The Full-Back Tells the Story," "The Unrecorded Cross," "The Winning of the Sword-Knot," "At the Zariba," "Judge Not!" and "Blood Will Tell."

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. 48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Abbott, Lyman, D.D. Problems of life: selections from the writings of Lyman Abbott, D.D.; selected by Sarah Truslow Dickinson; introd. by Washington Gladden. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1900. c. 10+307 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The selections are from the published writings or reported sermons of Dr. Abbott, from the years 1895-1899, inclusive. Grouped under subject-headings as: The home, character, the world, work, the brotherhood of man, the church, faith and unfaith, prayer and special prayers, the Bible, the supernatural, evolution of religion and theology, God, Christ, the kingdom of heaven.

Adney, Tappan. The Klondike stampede. N. Y., Harper, 1900. c. '99. 12+471 p. il. O. cl., $3.

The author was one of the pioneers of the Klondike region, and lived among the gold-seekers during the stirring times of the gold-fever of 1897-98. The book is a narrative of Mr. Adney's experiences and observations. Not the least interesting feature is the great number of illustrations from drawings and photographs by the author.

Alden, Mrs. Isabella Macdonald ["Pansy," pseud.,] and Livingstone, Mrs. C. M. By way of the wilderness. Bost., Lothrop Pub. Co., [1900.] c. '99. 2-394 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

The hero of the story—Wayne Pierson—through the familiar stepmother complication, finds himself misjudged and misunderstood in his home, which he finally leaves, on impulse, with a college career uncompleted and the attempt at reconciliation incomplete. The book is, indeed, largely a story of impulses, for the hero is repeatedly brought face to face with crises engendered by his own honest but unbalanced impulses. Even in an unforeseen love affair this is the cause of trouble and misunderstanding.

Aldrich, G: I., and Forbes, Alex. Progressive course in reading: first, second, and third books. N. Y., Butler, Sheldon & Co., 1900. c. '99-1900. First bk., 132 p. il. D. cl., 20 c.; Second bk., 176 p. il. D. cl., 30 c.; Third bk., 272 p. il. D. cl., 40 c.

Contents: Bk. 1, Pictures, rhymes, and stories. Bk. 2, Stories, verses, nature studies. Bk. 3, Stories, studies, rhymes, riddles.

Allen, C: Notes on the Bacon-Shakespeare question. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1900. c. 14+306 p. D. cl., $1.50.

An attempt to throw some new light upon the still vexed question of the authorship of the plays and poems which bear Shakespeare's name. The writer thinks that the Baconian argument from the legal knowledge shown in the plays is of slight weight, and has not heretofore been adequately met. He has therefore endeavored with some elaboration to make it plain that this legal knowledge was not extraordinary, or such as to imply that the author was educated as a lawyer, or even as a lawyer's clerk. Author is late judge of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts. His work is a digest of all the direct and indirect evidence on the subjects and will be found more satisfactory to Shakespeareans than to Baconians.

Benson, E: F: The Princess Sophia: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1900. c. 4+259 p. D. cl., $1.25.

A fantastic romance, the scene of which is laid in the imaginary principality of Rhodope, the resources of which have been sapped by the constant gambling of its citizens and rulers.

Besant, Sir Walter. The alabaster box. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1900. c. '99. 3+327 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A story of settlement life; it is shown from actual knowledge and observation the effect of the life upon the workers. The principal figure is a young man of wealth who is ambitious and able. He goes to the settlement out of curiosity, and the way the work and the people with whom he comes in contact change his entire character and his views of life forms the backbone of the story. The figures are drawn from the author's experience.

A distinctively American novel, treating entertainingly of personal, artistic, and social evolution. Most of its action takes place in New York, although its earlier scenes are in a New Jersey town, and others occur on the coast of Maine and among the New Hampshire mountains. The story has chiefly to do with three young persons—one who means to win fame as a poet, another who hopes to become a great actor, and another who adopts portrait painting as a profession.

In the almost unknown community in which lives the forestman and his neighbors—a little Bohemian village "on the edge of the forest"—Madam Kopta shows that the duties, desires, passions, and purposes of men and women are just as human and just as diversified as in the busier haunts of men. Her characters are all strongly individualized. Madam Kopta has lived, loved, and labored in just such a Bohemian forest village.

Lang, Andrew. A history of Scotland, from the Roman occupation. In 2 v. v. 1. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1900. 27+509 p. por. O. cl., net, $3.50.

"This volume is an attempt to examine the elements and forces which went to the making of the Scottish people, and to record the more important events which occurred between the Roman occupation and the death of Cardinal Beaton in 1546. His assassination did not absolutely ruin, but it greatly weakened, the old ecclesiastical policy of reliance on France and resistance to England. I have done my best, within my limits, to include sketches of social life and manners from a very early period."—Preface.

Lukens, Rev. W. Dewitt. Full life for empty men. Bost., Ja. H. Earle, 1900. c. 113 p. D. cl., 75 c.
The keynote of the book is that man by nature is out of harmony with his environment, separate from the source of life and empty of the fullness of resources that comes through Christ, and that matters can be restored and set right only by getting into right relationship to God as manifested in the Christ.

The first three sections, namely, (1) Origin, nature, and kinds of interest, (2) Importance of interest in the acts of ideation and reasoning, and (3) Importance of interest in volition and action, discuss the subject from its psychological side. The aim has been simply to give positive hints as to how, on the basis of the ruling fundamental views of psychology, a doctrine of interest might be established which should be free from contradictions, not only with those psychological premises, but also with itself. The last section contains pedagogical conclusions and applications.

Sage, W: Robert Tournay: a romance of the French revolution; il. by Eric Pape and Mary Ayer. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1900. c. 5+372 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Belongs to the same period of French history as Dickens's "Tale of two cities;" more than one of the characters are drawn from the actors in the great tragedy of the "Terror." Robespierre, the actor Gaillard, General Hoche, and the Marquis de St. Hilaire figure in the story. Tournay is a patriot of the noblest strain and a lover of great loyalty. He is nearly omnipresent, fertile in resource, and is the centre of an exciting tale.

Van Hoesen, Antoinette, [Mrs. A. V. H. Wakeman.] Questions of conscience: a novel. Chic., G: M. Hill Co., [1900.] c. 7+499 p. D. cl., $1.25.

The story begins in 1865 just after the close of the Civil War when North and South were trying to adjust themselves to normal conditions. The heroine, a graduate of a college, marries a brilliant man who allows her to support him. She awakes suddenly to the wrong she is doing herself and him and faces the problems of existence with theories and practice, in which she is supported by a physician and a clergyman of fine characters. Incidentally many economic and social problems are treated.

The book concludes with a complete digest of parliamentary law.

Woman: can she reason? The famous "Cynic" correspondence in the New York Times Saturday Review of books and art. N. Y., New York Times, 1899. c. 122 p. D. pap., 25 c.

On February 25, 1899, "Helen Church," a reader of the New York Times Saturday Review, had in its columns a letter to the editor praising social gatherings—especially those having literary aims. Two weeks later was printed a letter from another reader signed "Cynic," radical in its views to the verge of negation and all aglow with misogyny. It brought out letters from indignant women from all over the country, to which "Cynic" gave a second letter. After this there were still more, all on the subject "Can woman reason?" The correspondence is given here in its entirety.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

APRIL 21, 1900.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach his office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

QUALIFICATIONS OF A TRAVELLING SALESMAN.*

THE qualifications necessary for a good commercial traveller are of so unique a character that it is always more difficult to select a man for the road than for any other position in a large mercantile house. The advantages of holding this position being more strikingly in evidence than the disadvantages connected with it, and the talent required being so considerably underrated by aspiring applicants, it becomes perplexing to select the right man out of the many untried ones who imagine themselves able to fill so important a position. The reason for this condition is probably more due to the fact that there is not the opportunity for the apprenticeship in this field that there is in the other departments of commercial life, than to the lack of good material.

A lad that has a talent for figures can be educated by the slow process of evolution from an entering clerk, through the counting house, to be chief cashier, with a reasonable assurance that in the end he will be the right man in the right place. The movements of apprentices in the retail and sales departments can also be watched step by step until they reach the counter or "the floor," and give final proof of their ability as salesmen. There are also special qualifications required to make a successful buyer—judgment, enterprise, and discretion, traits that many an excellent salesman does not possess; yet the difficulty of selection in this department is not so great, because every salesman with ordinary ability and enterprise has an opportunity of watching his buyer's tactics, and thus of fitting himself for the vacancy when it occurs.

None of these opportunities are open to the would-be commercial traveller, for with the exception of occasional trials made among the city trade at home, or at a short distance, the aspirant to the position of traveller is an untried hand and in most cases must make his first venture as a speculation both for himself and the house—hence the frequent complete failure of many men sent out, and the consequent loss of trade to their employers. This lack of provision for services sure to be needed must be considered a weakness in the management of most large houses that may be attended by serious consequences. The motion of trade depends very largely upon the activity of the wide-awake and experienced commercial traveller; yet there is little or no opportunity for a young man to secure the experience necessary to make him a valuable promoter of the business of his house. These two facts, and the importance of changing travellers as seldom as possible, should convince the heads of large mercantile houses of the necessity of apprenticing a man intended for the road for at least one or two years to a skilled commercial traveller who is known for his knowledge of business, his steady habits, industry, reliability, perseverance and general success.

* Continuation of the series of "The Profession of Bookselling," from P. W., March 10, 1900, p. 477. A list of authorities quoted will be given on conclusion.

THE HOUSE OF CROWELL.

THE removal of the Boston house of Thomas Y. Crowell & Co. to New York, according to the Boston Literary World, "is not only one of the signs of the literary and publishing times, but a step upward and onward in an honorable and successful business career, which will be noted with interest by the large constituency of readers familiar with their imprint. The firm began as successors to Benjamin Bradley, a Boston bookbinder, who, in his turn, began business as far back as 1834, and was in a sense the pioneer in cloth binding in this country. Mr. Bradley's first profitable stroke was his work upon the covers of 'Six Months in a Convent,' a volume which had a remarkable sale for its day. For many years Mr. Bradley bound all the publications of Ticknor & Fields, Phillips, Sampson & Co., Crosby & Nichols, and many other old Boston firms, and did also a large amount of work for out-of-town publishers, notably for D. Appleton & Co. Mr. Crowell had entered Mr. Bradley's employ as a boy, in 1856, at $4 a week, his first tasks being to 'take the time' of the hands as they came to work in the morning, sweep out the office, etc., getting to work at 6.30 in the morning without any breakfast, and going home to breakfast after the 'help' had come in. After a few years he became bookkeeper, next took general charge, and on the death of Mr. Bradley, in 1862, he undertook the business and carried it on for three years, for the benefit of the estate. Then, after a five years' copartnership with Mr. Bradley's widow, he succeeded to the business in full in 1870, and finally started out for himself."

In December, 1875, Mr. Crowell purchased the plates of the books formerly published by Warren & Wyman at 744 Broadway, New York. From that time dates Mr. Crowell's career as a publisher. He continued the business of Warren & Wyman, in his own name, at 744 Broadway, under the management of William W. Wyman, retaining his bookbinding business in Boston. Slowly but steadily the publishing business grew from a small line of juveniles and Sunday-school books to a line as comprehensive and important almost as the Bohn libraries. While particularly strong in reprints of English classics the Crowell business has also developed on original lines, especially in the department of economics and social science, and in translations from the Russian, French, and German—among the latter being the works of Tolstoy, Victor Hugo, and Von Sybel's "German Empire."

It was the aim of Mr. Crowell from the start to publish standard literature in attractive styles at reasonable prices, and having their own bindery the firm have given careful attention to all details of manufacture, and pride themselves on giving first-class work in their cheapest books.

The limited quarters at 744 Broadway were soon exchanged for larger ones at 13 Astor Place, and these in time were abandoned for still larger ones at 46 East 14th Street, which also in turn became cramped as the business increased, so that the additions of the last few years called for still more enlarged accommodations.

It is the inconvenience of having a manufactory and a publishing house separated at such a distance from each other, now grown to be so serious, that decided the firm to make New York the headquarters for the future. Mr. Crowell has associated with him his oldest son, T. Irving Crowell, in charge of general details of publishing, a second son, J. Osborne Crowell, who looks after the manufacturing, and a brother, E. Osborne Crowell, who superintends the bindery.

A most pleasant and suggestive feature of this transfer from Boston to New York is the fact that a number of the employees, both men and women, have come over from Boston to New York, to continue their work in the bindery, thus showing their loyalty to the firm. One of them, who holds an important position, looks back with pride upon the record of a continuous service with the firm for over forty years.

A NEWSPAPER NIGHT AT THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE.

At the April dinner of The Booksellers' League, given at the Aldine Association on the evening of the 18th inst., T. J. Vivian, a well-known journalist, the author of "With Dewey at Manila," and other books, gave to the uninitiated a graphic insight into the methods now in vogue in the making of a great daily newspaper. In a very concise and happy manner he described the duties of the chiefs of the various departments that form the executive board of the newspaper, then showed the system used in gathering news, how the matter was put into form, and outlined some of the difficulties confronting the editor in his selection of what to print and what to leave out.

"The ordinary edition of a paper," Mr. Vivian said, "is that of sixteen pages, each page of seven columns, each column of 1200 words in nonpareil, or, as Mr. Lightning Calculator has figured out, it would take a total of 134,000 words of nonpareil type to fill an ordinary sixteen-page, seven-column paper. But of all this space comparatively little can be used for straightaway news.

"The advertisements, at an average of fifty columns, take the space of 60,000 words, and reduce the total to 74,000. The editorial page takes away the space of 8400 words; the sporting page takes away the space of 8400 more; the commercial, real estate, and financial page, 8400 more; or a total of 25,200 word space for these three departments. Taking these figures from the already diminished 74,000-word space, we have left but 48,800, or say, roundly 49,000.

"But the reduction process is not yet complete The pictures occupy, on an average, the space of seven columns, 8400 words, and the heads eight columns, or 9600 more words; that is, a space of 18,000 words for heads and cuts. Take away these figures from the rapidly diminishing available space of 49,000 words, and we have just a 31,000-word space, or, about twenty-six columns for general news. Now, what is the supply for this limited demand?

"The A. P. Telegraph sends in every day of national, foreign, ship and market reports about 120,000 words, of which of undepartmental, straightaway news there are about 80,000 words.

"The special and regular telegraph correspondents send about 40,000 words.

"The Standard sends in of routine suburban news about 20,000 words.

"The A. P. local about 25,000 words.

"The city staff writes about 25,000 words, or a total of about 190,000 words, or 56,000 more words than would fill the paper should all the columns of every one of the sixteen pages be packed with solid, unillustrated, unheaded news.

"Or what would almost fill every column of a twenty-three page paper.

"Or 159,000 words, that is 122 columns more than is used."

In concluding his interesting talk Mr. Vivian asserted that "the man who calls journalism a profession doesn't know what he is talking about. It is a business, a plain case of trade, and that of the hardest and most exigent nature. Then why do men flock to it? you ask. I'll tell you. For three reasons:

"First, because of the shattered remnants of a college lad's glamour that still hang round it, the idea that the newspaper office is a sort of curious, wildly free path to the sunlit field of letters.

"Second, because it requires no preparation, no examination, no diploma, no professional safeguards. Anybody can get into the newspaper workshop.

"Third, because the unbusiness brain is plentiful and cheap.

"That's it. The concretion of the whole matter lies in the last reason, and out of it grows the great antithetical fact that it is the business brain that pays, the business brain that makes its owner rich, the business brain that makes a paper great.

"Sixteen pages filled with the best news from all over the world and reported by the best news writers in the world would not make a paper great—if the enterprise ended there. The processes of gradual appreciation of a good thing because it is good may result in a post-mortem monument, not in dividends while living."

Josiah C. Pumpelly entertainingly reviewed the past of the press, recalled the influence exerted by the "fourth estate" in great crises in England and in this country—by such giants as Swift, Coleridge, "Junius," Zenger, Thomas Paine and Horace Greeley—and ended with an appeal to the consciences of modern moulders of opinion to zealously guard their independence in order that they may be free to expose fraud and injustice no matter where and by whom committed.

The addresses which were both most heartily applauded were followed by a brief discussion in which Messrs. Cutter, Malkan, S. E. Briggs and Desmond Fitzgerald took part.

BRAYTON IVES'S COLUMBUS LETTER.

In the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court a decision was handed down on the 17th inst., affirming the verdict for the defendants in the suit of Brayton Ives to recover $4278 from Gilbert I. Ellis and Robert V. Elvey, the English dealers in rare books, who, he alleged, caused him to pay $4500 for a book which was worth only $225.

Mr. Ives said at the trial that he supposed he was purchasing the original edition of a rare and valuable book, printed from movable type, which contained an account of the first voyage to America of Columbus, written by him to his friend and patron, Louis De Sant Angel, whereas it was only a reproduction.

Judge Goodrich, who wrote the decision, says that there was no evidence of express warranty by defendants, who denied that the book was an imitation. The defendants put on the stand experts who testified to the genuineness of the book. All the facts were before the jury, and it was for them to decide.

D. APPLETON & CO. NOT IN A BOOK TRUST.

To counteract a sensational statement that appeared in some of the New York daily newspapers, to the effect that a book trust is now forming and that it already controls the house of D. Appleton & Co. among others, the receiver of the firm of D. Appleton & Co., J. H. Dougherty, replies that "not a single statement in the article is worthy of the slightest credence, so far as I have any knowledge or belief, except the assertion that the house of D. Appleton & Company is to be reorganized. That statement I believe and fully endorse. While no official report has yet been made by me, my examination seems to justify the conclusion that the assets of D. Appleton & Co. exceed its liabilities in the ratio of more than two to one.

"One statement in the article under consideration is an utter fabrication. The article asserts that it was reported [on the 18th inst.] that an offer had been made by the receiver of D. Appleton & Co. to some creditors of 66 2-3 cents on the dollar of their claims, which offer had been generally refused. This assertion is in every respect false. Not only has there been no offer of 66 2-3 cents, but no offer whatsoever. My confident expectation is that the creditors of D. Appleton & Co. will receive dollar for dollar and that there will be an abundant equity for the stockholders."

COMMUNICATIONS.

A MOVEMENT TO RELIEVE THE BOOKSELLER.

Springfield, Ill., April 16, 1900.

The many letters you have published in your columns looking toward a practical solution of the discount problem have been read with interest and not a little profit, and I am sure the agitation has been productive of much general good.

While the burden of the argument has gone to show that the publishers are, in the main, responsible for the retailers' woes, and that they must take the initiative in any movement promising relief, the retailer must not forget that the success of the publishers' efforts is dependent upon his co-operation, and it is to call the booksellers' attention to a plan now being given a trial by two or three of our leading publishing houses, and to enlist their support in its behalf, that this letter is written.

The plan referred to is a simple one, and offers the regular bookseller an opportunity of meeting the competition of the department stores on a more favorable footing, and if need be, on their own ground. The publishers agree to allow their best discount on small quantity orders; one of them gives an extra 10 per cent. on orders for 25 copies of one book. Again their best fall discounts hold throughout the year. The retail bookseller can readily see the advantages of this departure. It is not now necessary to buy two hundred and fifty copies of a book in order to take advantage of an extra 10 per cent. (too often a Will o' the wisp that vanishes behind a shelf of dead stock), as an order for a small quantity gives him the publisher's best discount.

The retailer will sell more of these publications because he has the best reasons in the world for pushing them, and at the expense, too, of the less generous publisher.

This plan cannot but benefit the retailer, and the movement needs only the support of the trade in general to make the mutual advantages so obvious that the other publishing houses will fall into line.

While there are a few minor objections which may be urged against the above, especially by the jobbers, they are of little weight when compared with the advantage of the scheme as a whole. Anyhow, it is a move in the right direction.

A PRISONER OF HOPE.

THE PRICE RECEIVED BY MILTON FOR "PARADISE LOST."

IN your issue for April 7, page 717, Mr. Halsey makes the statement that "Paradise Lost" brought $75. It was five pounds ($25) as stated by Masson in his "Life of Milton," vol. vi., page 510. This error is made so frequently that it ought to be corrected. I have seen it stated all the way from $10 to $100. W. M. S.

OBITUARY NOTES.

FLORENCE SCHOEFFEL, wife of General George J. Schoeffel, died on the 16th inst., at her residence, 69 Madison Avenue, New York City. For the last twelve years Mrs. Schoeffel had been well known as a writer of fiction under the pseudonym of "Wenona Gilman." Her maiden name was Florence Blackburn White, and she was born in Owen County, Ky., in 1860.

HORACE RUDE died at Springfield, Mass., on the 13th inst. He was a well-known figure in the life of the city since 1854. Originally a teacher, in 1856 he opened a book and stationery store. Successful in business, in 1889 he purchased the land and erected the block in which his store is located, completing it in 1890. His store was for many years the scene of many informal gatherings of those who liked or practiced art.

ULLRICH JAHN, a well-known philologist and folklorist, died in Berlin, March 23, aged forty-nine years. Among his published writings are "Die abwehrenden und Sühnopfer der deutschen," "Volkssagen aus Pommern und Rügen," "Die deutschen Opfergebräuche bei Ackerbau und Viehzucht," etc. He organized the German Village in London in 1892, which, in a more complete form, was also exhibited at the Columbian World's Exposition at Chicago.

PERSONAL NOTES.

HALL NEILSON JACKSON, the bookseller, of Cincinnati, O., married, on the 17th inst., Bertha Wilhelmine, the daughter of the Rev. Ernst Drewitz, at Camp Springs, Ky.

R. BRIMLEY JOHNSON whose name is associated with the editing of English reprints has been appointed the London representative of The Century Co. He will shortly bring out a second series of "Essays in Liberalism."

JESSE LYNCH WILLIAMS has resigned his position with Charles Scribner's Sons and will become the editor of the Alumni Princetonian. Mr. Williams has been induced to accept this place because it will give him more time to pursue his literary work.

MRS. MARY DANA HICKS, one of the leading club women of Boston, and Louis Prang, the well-known art publisher, were married at Boston on the 16th inst., at the Church of the Disciples, by the Rev. Dr. Charles G. Ames. Mrs. Prang went to Boston from New York in 1879 and identified herself with the Prang Educational Company. She is the daughter of the late Major Dana and was the widow of Charles S. Hicks, lawyer of Syracuse, who met his death by drowning.

TEMPLE SCOTT, well known in English literary and book trade circles, has been appointed successor to Mr. Robinson as American representative of John Lane, and will arrive in New York in a week or two. He was for some time connected with Petherick & Co.'s Continental publishing business. Later he identified himself with George Bell, and saw through the press all the famous art books of this publisher. At present he is editing a "Swift" for the Bohn Library. He has also compiled a bibliography of the works of the Kelmscott Press, besides doing literary work in connection with the publications of the Vale Press, for which John Lane is the American agent.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

"JANICE MEREDITH" has passed into its thirteenth edition, representing 233,000 copies printed.

F. M. BUCKLES & Co. have just issued "In London's Heart," a highly melodramatic story by George R. Sims.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY have published a volume of talks to young men by Dr. Louis Albert Banks, entitled "Twentieth Century Knighthood."

E. P. DUTTON & Co. will publish at once "The Head of Pasht," by Willis Boyd Allen, being "a story of the influence of an ancient clue in unravelling a modern mystery."

R. F. FENNO & Co. have just ready "The Irony of Life—the Polanetzki Family," by Henryk Sienkiewicz, translated by Nathan M. Babad. This was previously issued under the title of "The Children of the Soil."

THE LOTHROP PUBLISHING CO. have just issued "The Forestman of Vimpek," by Mrs. Flora V. Kopta, a story of village life in a remote forest hamlet of Bohemia. They have also just ready "By Way of the Wilderness," by "Pansy" (Mrs. G. R. Alden) and Mrs. C. M. Livingston, a romance for grown people, although "Pansy" suggests chiefly delight for younger readers. It is the story of a boy driven from his home by injustice, who becomes a blessing to himself and his people.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have just issued a neat blank book entitled "Library Catalogue," arranged for recording the books of a private library. Its 120 leaves are ruled with spaces to record 2880 books by author and title, making a double entry of each book. The printed headings are Author, Title, and Remarks on the left hand page, and Title, Author, and Remarks on the right hand page. The book measures 7¼ x 9¾ inches, and is indexed throughout. It is issued in cloth, gilt edges, in full Persian morocco, at $1.50 and $2.25 respectively.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. publish to-day "Browning Study Programmes," by Charlotte Porter and Helen A. Clarke, a book which is the result of years of careful research, and will prove useful to Browning students and instructors in English literature. It is gotten up in two attractive volumes and also in one volume. They have just ready a "Condensed History of Modern Times," by Victor Duruy, and a "Condensed History of the Middle Ages," by the same author. Both of these volumes have been revised by Professor Edwin A. Grosvenor, of Amherst College, and contain finely engraved colored maps.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BALTIMORE, MD.—The Indo-American Bible Booklet Society has been incorporated here to publish and circulate Bible tracts. The company will obtain funds by voluntary subscription.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—The announcement is made of the incorporation of Peter Paul & Co. to deal in and publish books, sell stationery, etc. The capitalization of the new concern is given as $50,000, and the directors as P. H. Vollmer and Mrs. Mary Paul, of Buffalo. This concern is a reorganization of the Peter Paul Book Company, whose stock was purchased at the assignee's sale by Mrs. Mary Paul for $15,500.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The Alhambra Book Company has been incorporated to publish and sell books. The incorporators are J. P. O'Neill, T. B. Lantry, and G. W. Lyon, and the capitalization is $10,000.

MACON, GA.—The McEvoy Book and Stationery Co. have not closed out their stock as was reported in our issue of April 7. What they did was to sell off their surplus stock before their annual stock-taking.

MATANZAS, CUBA.—James Richardson, of the firm of Richardson Brothers, of Georgetown, Tex., has opened a book and stationery store here.

MIDDLETOWN, CONN.—J. A. Broatch will remove, on May 1, his bookstore at 276 Main Street to the next store south, where he will enjoy much more space and light.

NEW YORK CITY.—A meeting of the creditors of Ward & Drummond has been called.

OAKLAND, CAL.—Smith Brothers is a new incorporation which will deal in stationery, books, etc. It is capitalized for $35,000.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Educator Publishing Company has just been formed here. The company is capitalized for $10,000.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—Robson & Adee of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., will take over the book store on State Street, by F. H. Swart, and after a thorough overhauling re-open it on May 1, under the management of Mr. Robson. Mr. Adee will look after the Broadway store at Saratoga Springs, and Miss Cora D. Rosa will have charge of the season store.

AUCTION SALES.

[Under this heading advance notices will be inserted, without charge, of book auction sales to be held anywhere in the United States. Word should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon to insure insertion in the same week's issue.]

APRIL 25, 26, 10 A.M. AND 2 P.M.—Library of George H. Mackay, of Nantucket, Mass., including a large collection of first editions of American authors. Pt. 1. (1214 lots.)—C. F. Libbie & Co.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office should either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

Latest and Best Novels.

THE MONEY SENSE, By JOHN STRANGE WINTER.

Is a book which must stand unique in modern literature because the heroine is an original conception. She is a charming creature, with the sense of the value of money very imperfectly developed. The story of her going to London from her humble home at Beech Croft, and eventually marrying a title, is fascinating in both plot and style. It is a first-class story. Cloth bound, $1.25

THE STATEROOM OPPOSITE, By ARTHUR HENRY VEYSEY.

Author of "A Cheque for Three Thousand," etc. Is a well-balanced detective story. It is not overdrawn as such books usually are, but full of mysterious and vital interest. It is a departure from Mr. Veysey's previous humorous style in "A Cheque for Three Thousand" and "A Pedigree in Pawn," proving him to be a remarkably versatile writer. Most of the events take place on shipboard. It is a powerful story, with a most dramatic climax, and inimitably original characters. Cloth bound, $1.25
Paper covers, .50

AMY WARREN, By A. SYDNEY LOGAN.

Author of "Not on the Chart." The appeal of this story lies in its naturalness. The hero, Harold Littleton, is not an impossible conception, but a real man of flesh and blood, faults and virtues. A new phase of American country life is also set forth with great fidelity. The worth of this book to the average reader is in the immediate refreshment and absolute change of ideas he can get by opening its pages anywhere. It contains some fine imaginative work and has heroic love for its theme. Cloth bound, gilt top, $1.50

KATHARINE BARRY, By HARRY HUGHES.

The sacrifice of sentiment to religion is always a fascinating topic. In the case of this novel it is particularly so, because of the earnestness and evident sincerity of the devoted young girl. She was only a farmer's daughter, but she passed through most extraordinary experiences, even to being the medium of psychic phenomena. It is a most interesting book. Cloth bound, gilt top, $1.25

Miss Hogg, The American Heiress, By Mrs. V. C. JONES.

The adventures of an American girl in London are used as the foundation of this story. Miss Hogg was an uncultured heiress, bent on capturing a coronet. In furtherance of her plans, she uses almost desperate means, and places herself in very perilous situations. Her American wit, however, helps her safely through them all, and at the close of the book she is respected and happy. Cloth bound, gilt top, $1.50

THE VEIL WITHDRAWN, By BERTON J. MADDUX.

A tragic beginning makes a happy ending all the more agreeable. The opening pages of this entertaining book relate a murder, and not until the end of the story is the identity of the criminal established. The interest is chained by this sustained mystery, and its denouement is a total surprise. It is a spirited and most interesting work.
Cloth bound, $1.25

Beverly Osgood; or, When the Great City is Awake,
By JANE VALENTINE.

This romance sets forth New York life as seen by a student of city conditions of both rich and poor. In Nina Palermo, the heroine, is a convincing illustration of the fearful effect of evil circumstances on the life of an innocent and beautiful, but poor girl. The wide influence of truly good and Christian women toward uplifting the fallen and quietly aiding reform is also portrayed in the character of "My Lady." It is a work which should do much good. Cloth bound, $1.50

Bibliographic Publications.

For all American books as they appear, take THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY; for an hour's glance each month at the important books and magazine papers, take LITERARY NEWS; for library matters take THE LIBRARY JOURNAL; for magazine articles in general, consult THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX; for books in print or issued of late years, see THE AMERICAN and ANNUAL CATALOGUES.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. Established in 1872, with which was incorporated the American Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular (established in 1852.) Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly indexes, etc. Subscription, $3.00 a year, postpaid; to foreign countries, postpaid, $4.00 a year; single numbers, 10 cents, postpaid.

THE LIBRARY JOURNAL. Official Organ of the American Library Association. Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription, $5.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 50 cents. Price to Europe, or other countries in the Union, 20*s* a year; single numbers, 2*s*. (LITERARY NEWS is sent free to subscribers of THE LIBRARY JOURNAL.) Teachers may be interested in the "School Number" published in the spring of each year.

GENERAL INDEX TO THE LIBRARY JOURNAL, vols. 1–22, 1876–1897. Arranged to serve as an index to succeeding volumes or for other sources of professional information. 4°, in sheets, or paper binding, $2.50; A. L. A. half leather, $3.00.

LITERARY NEWS. A Monthly Journal of Current Literature. THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE of books in print and for sale July 1, 1876, compiled under the direction of F. LEYPOLDT, and its supplements, 1876–84, 1884–90, 1890–95, and 1895–1900, compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER, aims to present all the bibliographical features of the books in the American market, arranged in the first part alphabetically by both authors and titles, and in the second part alphabetically by subjects.

The Catalogue and its supplementary volumes form the only approximately complete guide in existence to the American books of the day, so arranged as to make reference easy from whatever direction the inquiry may come, whether from that of the author, or the title, or the subject. It not only furnishes the desired information about any particular book of which the consulter is in search, but shows what others there are by the same author or on the same subject in which he is interested. To the bookseller, therefore, it is valuable both in filling orders and in stimulating business; to the librarian, in supplying gaps and proportioning his collection; and to all who are practically concerned with books, in furnishing information which nowhere else is obtainable by so convenient a method, if obtainable at all.

The author-and-title volume of the 1876 volume is out of print. A limited number of the subject volume may be had in half leather binding at $15.

The volume covering the period 1876–84 is also out of print.

——, 1884–90, 4°, hf. mor., $25.
——, 1890–95, 4°, hf. mor., $15.

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE. Being the full titles, with descriptive notes, of all books recorded in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY during the calendar year, with author, title, and subject index, publishers' annual lists and directory of publishers. Published annually since 1886. 8vo, sheets, net, $3.00; half morocco, $3.50.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX, including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc., with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited, with the coöperation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER. 8° cloth, $3.50.

THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL. Contains: The latest catalogues of nearly 200 American publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names and smaller lists at the end of the volume. These lists, all bound in one volume arranged alphabetically for ready reference, with marginal index, guiding the finger at once to the right letter, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase or sale of books. Large 8vo, with "Duplex Index," cloth, net, $2.00.

THE AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE. Contains a price-list of all the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE [Annual] giving full titles classified under author and subject in one strict alphabet, with particulars of the size, price, month of publication, and name of publisher of the books issued in Great Britain and Ireland, in the calendar year, being a continuation of the "London" and "British" Catalogues. [London: Sampson Low, Marston & Co.) 8vo, paper, net, $1.50. THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE and THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE bound in one volume, half leather, $5.00.

PUBLICATIONS OF SOCIETIES: a provisional list of the publications of American scientific, literary, and other societies from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Schedules over 1100 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. 4°, paper, $2.50; cloth, $3.00.

STATE PUBLICATIONS: a provisional list of the official publications of the several States of the United States from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Pt. 1: New England States—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut. 4°, $2.00. (For complete work, $5.00.)

LIST OF AMERICAN PUBLISHERS, 1890–1895. The street address is given in nearly every case, and the abbreviation under which the firm's books are entered in the "American Catalogue," 1890–95. 4to, pap., $2.00.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS. July 1, 1890 to June 30, 1895. Compiled, under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER, by J. H. HICKCOX. 60 pp., 4to, pap., $1.50.

THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL LIBRARY. By Rev. A. E. DUNNING. 16mo, cloth, 60 cents.

THE PROFESSION OF BOOKSELLING: a handbook of practical hints for the apprentice and bookseller. By A. GROWOLL, managing editor of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, and author of "A Bookseller's Library," "Book-trade Bibliography in the United States in the XIXth Century," etc. Pts. 1 and 2. 134 p. Large 8°, bds., each, $2.00. (Concluding part in preparation.)

NEW BOOKS.

THE LAST LADY OF MULBERRY.

A story of Italian New York. By HENRY WILTON THOMAS. Illustrated by Emil Pollak. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

"The Last Lady of Mulberry" is the title of a fresh and charming novel, whose author, a new writer, Mr. Henry Wilton Thomas, has found an unexploited field in the Italian quarter of New York. Mr. Thomas is familiar with Italy as well as New York, and the local color of his vivacious pictures gives his story a peculiar zest. As a story pure and simple his novel is distinguished by originality in motive, by a succession of striking and dramatic scenes, and by an understanding of the characters, and a justness and sympathy in their presentation which impart a constant glow of human interest to the tale. The author has a quaint and delightful humor which will be relished by every reader.

GARTHOWEN.

A Welsh story. By ALLEN RAINE, author of "Mifanwy," etc. No. 283, Appletons' Town and Country Library. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper 50 cents.

"The name of Allen Raine is becoming associated with Wales very much as Crockett's name became associated with certain Scottish themes through 'The Lilac Sunbonnet' and other of his fresher and earlier books."

THE IMMORTAL GARLAND.

By ANNA ROBESON BROWN, author of "Sir Mark," "A Cosmopolitan Comedy," etc. No. 282, Appletons' Town and Country Library. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

In this striking novel of American life the author develops contrasting careers which have to do with literature, the stage, and society. Her treatment of her theme is vigorous and effective, and no reader of the book will fail to feel the actuality of her characters and the logic of their development. The action of the novel passes largely in New York. The story abounds in vivid pictures and well-realized situations, and the phases of American life which it depicts are presented with a vigor and power of graphic delineation which will arrest attention and gain for this strong novel a high place among contemporary American fiction.
